PARANORMAL ACTIVITY MAY BE AFFECTED BY THREE NATURAL OCCURRING ANOMALIES IN OUTER-SPACE

GEOMAGNETIC STORMS occur as particles charged with electricity emit from the sun and crash into the surface of the earth. The magnetic fields in the earth's atmosphere are disrupted (including radio transmissions). Higher levels of paranormal activity are believed to be encountered.

MOON PHASES are the position of the moon compared to the position of sun and the earth. There is a portion of the moon that faces the sun; this portion of the moon is continually illuminated by the sun. As a result, when the moon and the sun are on opposite sides of earth, the moon is observed as being a full moon because it is being totally illuminated. Based on the earth's position and in comparison to the position of the moon, there is a dramatic effect within the earth's atmosphere relevant to both electric and magnetic fields. The electric and magnetic field disturbances vary to such extensive degrees that they can affect oceanic tides. The most favorable time to pursue paranormal activity is to conduct field research approximately three days before the full moon phase/cycle and three days after the full moon phase/cycle.

SOLAR FLARES occur as big, fiery flares emit from the sun, then ascend into space, and crash back down into the surface of the sun. Then, enormous amounts of solar X-RAYS and cosmic radiation are driven away from the sun, ultimately making their way to earth. This occurrence raises the level of energy within the earth's atmosphere. It's believed spirits can employ this solar flare energy to facilitate their attempt to become visible as an apparition. Speculation dictates that an elevated amount of energy in the atmosphere leads to an escalated quantity of paranormal activity. Solar flare activity is introduced as a concept because every time solar storms happen, the effect is a rise in the earth's electro-magnetic fields. The amount of energy in the earth's atmosphere gives spirits a vast amount of excess energy to utilize. An additional energy supply may facilitate an increase in paranormal activity.
