

Investigation Summary Report

Private Residence Shreveport, LA

HISTORY

The house is about 30 years old and has no unusual history associated with it. The current owner has lived there for 15 years and never experienced anything unusual until about three years ago. She hears pops and bangs in the walls and ceiling that prevent her from sleeping and says that her dog frequently jumps up and stares at where the noises are coming from and walks from room to room as if looking for something. She also reported seeing a dark figure in the hallway.

We had three investigators and four cameras set up in the master bedroom, guest bedroom, the hallway, and the living room. We didn't hear any of the noises the client described but due to the Fourth of July weekend, there were fireworks being popped outside which may have masked the sounds inside. One investigator reported hearing what sounded like two distinct knocks while standing in the kitchen, but they were not caught on tape and the other investigators did not hear them. We also took a look around the attic but all seemed to be in order and there were no signs of any squirrels or anything that could have made any noises.

All three investigators did experience some physical symptoms in one room including dizziness and headaches and nausea but could not explain them. We did not get any evidence on video or audio and plan to go back as the client is still uncomfortable.
