

Investigation Summary Report

Private Residence Covington, LA

HISTORY

As per the homeowners request, we shall keep the information of the home to a minimum. What we can say is that this beautiful residence was built in the early 1900's and is currently being restored.

ACTIVITY

The home was purchased only a couple of months ago by the current owners and is currently undergoing an intense remodeling. The owner has reported strange sounds and doors/windows opening and closing on their own.

INVESTIGATION

Another "old school" investigation, where only the bare essentials were used. Unfortunately, not all investigations can be about experiences. We all know that not every place we visit can have activity. If it did, then I'm sure we would be extensively put under the microscope in regards to our validity. No activity was recorded nor any video, audio, photographic evidence was obtained. What we can do is give a huge thanks to the homeowners for being some of the most kind people we have met, treating us to an awesome steak dinner and making for great company. Thanks again and we wish you the best of luck in the restoration of such a beautiful home.
