Conclusions

The evidence gathered during this brief investigation, solely from the SB-7 Spirit Box, indicate a possible paranormal presence at this residence. Solid EVP evidence would have made this conclusion more robust but was not obtained. A subsequent more in-depth investigation would be indicated, however, since the client is no longer living there, that will probably not happen. This resident had many antiques in the house, some from the 1700's, which are suspect as sources of attached energies. As these are moving with the client, it will be interesting to follow up and ascertain if the activity continues at the new location.
